Described as ‘barefoot elegance with an organic feel’, this new build in Boca Raton emits a tranquil and elegant ambiance inviting you to sit and relax awhile.

Further enhancing their reputation as one of the ‘Top 100 Interior Design Firms in the World’, Marc-Michaels has created this stunning, fresh and contemporary living space on Spanish River Road, Boca Raton. The property, built by Mark Timothy, Inc. Luxury Homes with architecture by Affiniti Architects, was finished with the Marc-Michaels stamp of decadent design.

For over 26 years, Marc-Michaels Interior Design Inc. has been tailoring properties to suit their owners. Focusing on interior detailing with strong finishes and hand-picked furnishings, the Marc-Michaels team has made each home a reflection of the passions of the families living there.

This new build in Florida was a blank canvas and principal of Marc-Michaels, Marc Thee, was heavily involved in the design process from the ground up. The design team backing him were Jeff Strasser, Courtney Jacobus and design assistant, Allison George with interior detailing by Rachel Jones and Kathryn Dunagan.

The richly varnished wooden ceiling flowing from the entryway through the great room and into the covered loggia at the back of the property creates a feel of exotic Bali that seamlessly links the interior and outside living spaces. ►

A restful feeling of space is evident throughout the property with the use of floor to ceiling windows and open plan rooms; the master bathroom flows directly from the master bedroom, a frosted glass divider all that separates the dressing room from the bath.

The colour palette and materials used in each room contribute to the tranquil feeling in this waterside home. Inspired by the Floridian sunset and ocean, the base neutrals are given a pop of colour with turquoise and orange. The simple lines of the bamboo units in the bathroom are elegant and soothing creating a perfect space to unwind. Stacked stone columns in the foyer are lit from above and below to showcase the texture of the natural material.

The same vibrant wood of the ceilings has been used for the deck surrounding the resort-style swimming pool with accompanying fire-pit and plush loungers, to further join the inside and exterior areas.

Marc-Michaels' philosophy of 'the difference is in the details' is certainly evident in this new addition to their interior detailing portfolio, achieving a naturally elegant whole. <sup>[B]</sup>
